

International Symposium on City Planning 2010 Application Sheet

A. Paper Information

Paper's Title	A study on the Relationship between City Planning and City Planning Institute of Japan : from the History of Activities of CPIJ
Keywords	1	History	2	CPIJ	3	City Planning Review	Field of Adjudication
	4	Successive Presidents	5		6		13

B. Personal Information

NO.	Member's ID	*	Name	Organization
1	申請中	*	Toshihiko MACHIDA	Department of Urban Engineering University of JAPAN
2	199920		Miku AKADE	Manager, Urban Development Division E-Machi Planning Co. Ltd.,
3	200500		Kenta FURAIIDO	Associate Professor, Department of Urban Engineering University of JAPAN
4	187740		Yoshio MACHINAMI	Professor, Department of Urban Engineering University of JAPAN

C. Contact

* Please fill out in Japanese, if your address to which we contact is Japan.

Mailing Address	Zip (102-0082) 千代田区一番町 10 一番町ウエストビル 6F	TEL	03-3261-5407
		FAX	03-3261-1874
Name	街田 都市彦	E-Mail	sample@u-toshi.ac.jp

D. Abstract

* Please keep the volume of your abstract around 300 words.

The City Planning Institute of Japan was established in 1951 with the aim to undertake scientific research in the field of city and regional planning. For about half a century, the institution played a leading role in the planning field ensuring the advancement of science in urban and regional planning through publishing the scientific research of its membership, exchanging of knowledge, encouraging interactions among members of related research organizations, undertaking academic research, and also promoting the international exchange.

The City Planning Institute of Japan was established in 1951 with the aim to undertake scientific research in the field of city and regional planning. For about half a century, the institution played a leading role in the planning field ensuring the advancement of science in urban and regional planning through publishing the scientific research of its membership, exchanging of knowledge, encouraging interactions among members of related research organizations, undertaking academic research, and also promoting the international exchange.

The City Planning Institute of Japan was established in 1951 with the aim to undertake scientific research in the field of city and regional planning. For about half a century, the institution played a leading role in the planning field ensuring the advancement of science in urban and regional planning through publishing the scientific research of its membership, exchanging of knowledge, encouraging interactions among members of related research organizations, undertaking academic research, and also promoting the international exchange.

The City Planning Institute of Japan was established in 1951 with the aim to undertake scientific research in the field of city and regional planning. For about half a century, the institution played a leading role in the planning field ensuring the advancement of science in urban and regional planning through publishing the scientific research of its membership, exchanging of knowledge, encouraging interactions among members of related research organizations, undertaking academic research, and also promoting the international exchange.

(312 Words)